

Seminarieprogram, Gender and work, HT 2017

14 september 10—12, Eng 1-1060

Arbete, hem och manlighet. Vi diskuterar manlighet med hjälp av följande texter: Introduction (pp. 1–8) i John Tosh bok A Man's Place: Masculinity and the Middle-Class Home in Victorian England, "The History of Masculinities, circa 1650–1800" av Karen Harvey i Journal of British Studies 44:2 (April 2005), "Men at Home: Domesticities, Authority, Emotions and Work" av Raffaella Sarti i Gender and History 27:3 (Nov 2015) och Julie Nelsons text "Husbandry: a (feminist) reclamation of masculine responsibility for care", i Cambridge Journal of Economics 2016, 40.

5 oktober 10—12, Eng 1-1060

Hur försörjde sig lärare på 1800-talet? Johannes Westberg (Örebro universitet) lägger fram texten: "How did teachers make a living for themselves? Rural teachers' livelihood strategies in nineteenth century Sweden" (Texten finns på institutionens enhetsyta en vecka före seminariet eller kan rekvireras från johannes.westberg@oru.se)

2 november 9–16, Eng22-0031

Gender and work in early modern Scandinavia. Workshop with guests from Finland and Sweden with short presentations and discussions of work in progress. A workshop program will come in October. Registration required. The workshop will be in English.

16 november 10–12, Eng 1-1060

Historia & Arkeologi: ett fruktbart samarbete. Dag Lindström och Göran Tagesson presenterar sin forskning "Hus och hushåll i svenska städer 1600–1850".

14 december 10–12

Innehåll annonseras senare.

11 januari 9–12, Eng22-0031

Making a Living in the Early Modern and the Modern. With reflections from the book Making a Living, three guests -- Ulrika Holgersson (LU), Lars Edgren (LU) och Kirsti Niskanen (SU) – initiate a discussion about change and continuity in the working life of early modern and modern society. The seminar will be in English.